I would like to recommend Shane Adams for this program. He has been working for me at my company for several years now. We are an aerospace manufacturing company in Tacoma, Washington and also in Texas, building flight critical parts for several Space endeavors, University robotics programs, and Boeing. Shane is very talented in quality control adhering to AS9100D, ISO 9001:2015, ITAR process control, and hazmat application along with environmental awareness and application, while also acting as Safety Manager in our company. He has been through many annual registrar quality audits and done well under fire along with quarterly internal quality audits.

Shane is very punctual, puts out amazing energy, works well with others and always goes the extra mile. His real world experience will apply well towards a masters program. He has seen first hand the challenges of a small business with regulatory issues, changing culture in a company to one of awareness, and application within a reachable budget of different government programs.

Shane is very process orientated and does very well in an environment that promotes environment sustainability, awareness and love for his planet and fellow humans.

Best Regards,

Tony Baker
