Dear Shaliniar,

I am delighted to recommend Tully McComb for entrance into the MES program at Evergreen. She is smart, disciplined, well educated, and familiar with the rigors of academic work and achievement. To date, her academic work has been excellent.

I have known Tully since she was born, and watched her grow into a young woman who is kind, multi-talented, and concerned about the state of the planet and the people on it. She is a talented writer and musician. She has been instrumental in creating and nurturing a community that supports and validates its members, and which provides haven for those who come to it.

As someone who supervised clinical MSW student practicums, and sometimes taught master-level social work classes, I recognize that Tully is one of those uncommon people who are eager for practical knowledge but insist on digging deeper, who make connections between practice and paradigm, who can, and work to, see connections between what is known and how it known. She is the kind of student that is a joy to teach.

I believe you will find Tully to be an asset to the MES program and to her fellow students. If you have need of further information, please feel free to contact me at madrun13@gmail.com or 360-316-9891.
