Dear Admission Committee,

It is my pleasure to recommend Kevin Miller for the Master of Environmental Studies Program at the Evergreen State College. I am a member of the faculty at Evergreen in the Native Pathways Program. I have known Kevin for four months as a student in my “Cascadia: The History and Environment of the Pacific Northwest” course. In this class, he has demonstrated several skills necessary for success in graduate school.

Kevin is a dedicated student with strong analytical skills. In winter quarter, he wrote several essays that examined how human have interacted with their environments over millennia. His organized and well-written papers synthesized research from a broad range of Indigenous and Western scholars across several academic disciplines. These writings illustrate his ability to construct and support complex arguments.

Kevin also has excellent communication skills. Several times during the quarter, he collaborated with fellow students to lead our weekly reading seminars. He has effectively facilitated these discussions, posing relevant and challenging questions/prompts that generated interesting and intellectual exchanges. Kevin has also given several outstanding presentations via video conference that provide detailed summaries or course materials.

Overall, Kevin has exhibited excellent academic, organizational, and communication skills. These qualities will be beneficial in his future professional and educational endeavors. Therefore, I favorably recommend Kevin Miller and believe he would be asset to your program.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can provide any further information.

Best Regards,

Corey Larson, PhD
