To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to enthusiastically recommend Michael Mowry, who I had the privilege of co-managing for almost two years at WNDR Museum, to your Master of Environmental Studies Program. Throughout our time working together Michael proved themselves to be an absolute asset, demonstrating a consistently high standard of work, impeccable communication skills, and a strong sense of leadership.

Michael approaches everything with an admirable combination of confidence and humility, always willing to try something new and share their knowledge to help uplift and empower others. Their thoughtfulness of their peers and the world around them shines through in every single thing they do, frequently going out of their way to lend a hand, offer their insight, and create procedures and training materials that were implemented company wide to help make every location a safer, more efficient place. Michael handled an enormous amount of pressure with an astonishing amount of grace, regularly going well beyond their job description and very quickly becoming the go-to person across the entire company, including being sent out to other locations to help train employees. A common phrase uttered in the headquarters office of WNDR was, "I wish we could just clone Michael" because they were extraordinarily reliable, talented, and an absolute pleasure to be around.

On top of their outstanding work ethic, Michael's commitment to making the world a brighter place in every sense was one of the things that I always admired most about them and is demonstrated in the level of care that they approach everything they do with. I have no doubt in my mind that they are going to make a huge impact on the world.

Michael set a standard in my eyes that few will be able to reach and I am confident they would be an invaluable addition to your program. If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to reach out to me.

Best,
