Prompt Responses

Responses to admissions prompts A, B, and C should be between 300-500 words . Copy and paste your response in the corresponding field below. We've provided the questions again for reference.

If you add your answers as separate attachments , please clearly identify the prompt with the headings: Prompt

A, Prompt B, Prompt C along with your full name. In each required field below type " Response attached ".

Prompt A : Look over what area you intend to teach and indicate how your course work has prepared you to teach in this area. This should match the endorsement area you indicate in your application. Name your strengths in preparation, areas needing growth, and plans for next steps.

* Prompt A Response

The Subject that I would intend to teach would be Social Studies. Prior to graduation from Central Washington University, most of my interest was studying human behavior through Communication Studies and Sociology. In terms of preparations, most of my careers and occupations that I have had dealt with the education field. This was either mentoring students, joining Americorps and mostly finding occupations at public schools. One of my first occupations that I did after graduating from college was joining AmeriCorps as a college and career coach at a middle school. Being in a school setting helped me decide that I wanted to pursue teaching at schools, specifically social studies. This was the fact that I worked closely with a teacher that taught that area of subject. Through watching this teacher and other teachers on how they engaged with their students, I learned a lot about my professional growth and how I want to make a positive impact on students. For the past couple of years, the more I work at schools the more I want to pursue teaching. Currently my occupation right now is Emergency substitute for Tacoma public schools. I have learned a lot about classroom management and what students need for a better education. I also have learned the areas of growth that I would also have to learn before becoming a teacher. Everyday I am interacting with staff members and learning what does and what does not work best for students and parents. Hopefully all the things that I have learned from my previous occupations working at public schools will translate to my professional growth as a teacher. That is why I would like to become an educator of social studies and make a positive impact on students in the best way that I can do as well as learn more about myself.

Prompt B: Look over what area you intend to teach and indicate how your life experience has prepared you to teach in this area. This should match the endorsement area you indicate in your application. Name your strengths in preparation, areas needing growth, and plans for next steps.

* Prompt B Response

As stated previously before, I have worked closely with the education field. Occupations that I have had previously before dealt with mentoring students and engaging with them to find their own success. For example, when I was serving for AmeriCorps for two years, I was helping students that needed guidance on what they needed to graduate from high school and attend college. Every day I was helping students to understand the importance of graduating and pursuing college. This was something that when I was a student before, it would have helped me become a better student in high school. This is the main reason why I wanted to pursue teaching because I saw the positive impact that I had on students. Working closely with staff members and teachers also has prepared me to become a teacher. Throughout my life experience I have always had a close relationship with teachers. From teachers that I had in middle schools to teachers from colleges; I have had great relationships with and saw how those people have had a positive impact in my life. That is something I would try my best to do with students that were once in my position. One of my goals that I want to accomplish is to have all students that I have worked with to have success. The best way for me to achieve this goal is to pursue teaching. The best way for me to professionally grow as a person is to pursue teaching. These are the many reasons why teaching has a great importance to me.

Prompt C : Education is both a social good and structurally unjust. Explain your understanding of this contradiction and ways it can be addressed.

* Prompt C Response

Every time I go to school I always see how education is important for students. I also see how education in schools can also be unjust. Working at public schools I see lots of examples of how sometimes each student does not get the same and fair education that each student gets. There are many factors that can contribute to education being unjust. This could be about funding issues where other schools receive more financial help than other schools. Looking at education at an individual level, perhaps students have different adversities that other students don't have to face. These are the few of the many factors that could contribute to why education can be unjust. With that being education is also something that is socially good. I am a firm believer that in order for us to make a positive change, the first step is education. One of the things that I have noticed is that sometimes students take education for granted. We see more and more students dropping out of schools and losing their opportunity for a better education and success. This is why it is important as a society to prioritize our education. After all, the future generations will shape our future as well as the next generation that will come next.
