

November 28, 2022

Dear Admissions Committee:

It is my great pleasure to recommend Infinity Thompson for your program. Infinity is an excellent student that I worked with during the Winter Quarter of 2022 Evergreen. She has had a wonderful quarter in this Evergreen class, and she is a clear thinker, excellent writer, and active student.

As a student I found Infinity to be engaged and intellectually curious learner who is willing to push herself to work through difficult material and understand difficult concepts and arguments. In fact, she set up appointments with me on numerous occasions to discuss course material, clearly demonstrating her dedication as a student. In our People's Epistemology class, she did excellent thinking and writing and thoughtfully collaborated and workshopped with other writers while offering helpful insights and feedback. In fact, throughout her work she brought a deep sense of creative inquisitiveness and in class discussions this collegial wondering offered important sparks of for us to consider together as a seminar. These discussions provided abundant evidence that she has a clear and growing passion for writing, creativity, analysis and collaboration. These are some of her major strengths.

Her conversations with her fellow students in class as well as her written work were also evidence that she worked hard to get as much out of the material she was studying as possible. In addition to her reading, writing and discussion, Infinity has also consistently attended learning activities outside the scope of class and through everything she worked to see the social, cultural, and historical intersections amidst a wide variety of topics. Infinity is self-motivated and inquisitive, and what is more through her approach to education, she inspires those she comes in contact with to learn more and dig deeper into tough questions facing our society today.

Infinity's level of curiosity, maturity and seriousness are exceptional. Infinity seeks knowledge, usable and valuable knowledge for work in her career and community. She pushes himself to get answers to questions that she finds important and compelling. And she uses this information to think through problems in order to find solutions. She is an independent and collaborative learner. With her work at Evergreen, Infinity continued to build upon a solid academic foundation. Through her work, Infinity gained an excellent understanding of cultures especially with regard to art, history and political economy. She did an outstanding amount of reading and writing while also balancing a challenging schedule.

During her time at Evergreen, I have seen Infinity as a real leader in our class meetings and writing groups. She is becoming a leader who has a clear understanding of what is going on around her and wants to work with others in an informed way that is centered on service, learning, and humility. I see the goals of much of her work to be focused on bringing people together and developing a common understanding and using this to further deepen and strengthen each individual's knowledge and the knowledge of the group as a whole. From everything that I have seen, Infinity is fully capable of working well with others. At the same time, I have seen her also work on becoming a great writer and artist and is well on her way to achieving this goal.

Infinity is an excellent student, but I also find her to be a well-rounded human being: compassionate, generous, and kind. I know of no weakness that would impede Infinity's ability to for continued success in her studies and I am convinced that the work Infinity has done at Evergreen is a clear demonstration of her dedication and enthusiasm for academic work at the graduate level. I must reiterate what a pleasure it is to highly recommend Infinity Thompson to you.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'AZ', followed by three dots.

Anthony Zaragoza
Member of the Faculty
The Evergreen State College