ALEXANDRIA NELSON - COUNSELOR

To Whom It May Concern:

I have known Andee Nelson for nearly 21 years now. I had the privilege of mentoring her for two years as a high school TA, and then in the Education Boot camp class where she worked in my classroom. I also had the privilege of coaching Andee as a student-athlete here at Mossyrock High School in Volleyball. During her high school experience, Andee amazed me with her dedication and passion for everything she participated in. From my experiences with her, I have learned what an outstanding young woman she truly is. From early on, it was clear that Andee had high standards for herself and a commitment that was unparalleled. She pushed herself to take advanced courses and involved herself in extra-curricular activities with her classmates. She set herself up as a leader in the classroom, as an athlete on the court, and as a mentor in our school district.

Andee managed to maintain a 3.96 GPA, while taking advanced courses through our College in the High school program. Andee has continued to excel in her college career. She has stayed on track maintaining a strong academic presence at Centralia College and now Evergreen State College. She has done all of this while playing four years of college volleyball. She does not shy away from a challenge and enjoys getting the most out of her education. This type of dedication to her future is the very thing that sets her apart from other students. Andee worked in my classroom one-on-one with students to fill their academic gaps, in small-group settings where she learned to differentiate for each individual child, and she planned and implemented her own whole group lessons to our class of twenty 1st graders. She is eager to learn and enjoys receiving feedback to better her craft.

Andee is so many things, but the thing that I admire most about this young woman is the quality of human being she is. I have first-handedly witnessed her reach out to those hurting, devastated and broken. She rallies around those who are struggling and makes them better, just by being near them. She quietly supports and encourages her friends, coworkers and family with her supportive nature and gentle spirit. There are few young women quite like Andee Nelson.

It is without reservation that I give Andee Nelson my highest recommendation. She is driven, focused, and incredibly hard-working. I have no doubt that she will accomplish anything she sets her mind to!

Sincerely,

Kathryn Fitzhugh, Teacher
Mossyrock Elementary
