

Marc DeArmond
Evergreen MiT Program
3/21/10

Dear Principal and Cooperating Teacher,

I am presently a student in The Evergreen State College's Master in Teaching program. Beginning in Fall of 2010 I will be beginning my first student teaching assignment and seek placement at your school for this endeavor.

My background is as a corporate IT recruiter. I was drawn to this field because of my extensive experience with computers and technology. In this position I had the opportunity to train numerous new recruiters and sales representatives. I found myself enjoying this part of the profession far more than other, more lucrative, aspects of the job. After being responsible for designing a curriculum for new hires I realized that I would be better served working with students for a motive beyond simple profits.

In the training that I performed in the corporate setting, I always attempted to base it around active participation, role-plays, and student dialogue rather than just direct instruction. I find that students who are able to directly engage a topic in a number of diverse ways have the best chances of coming to a complete understanding and mastery of that subject. Also, by incorporating the student's prior experiences into teaching, you can give them a gateway to make the topic accessible and relevant to them. I have never been afraid to try new things in order to best reach those who are not reached by use of conventional methods.

I feel that my level of professionalism and thoughtful attitude would be a benefit to any school. I always seek to be both a learner and a leader in any environment I encounter. It is goal that through interactions with other staff, parents, students, and administration, I can create an environment in which students are encouraged to experiment, explore, discover, and achieve.

Sincerely,

Marc DeArmond
